Plan for Sandy City Corridor to Encompass 30-Year Vision

Since the 1980s, the Civic Center corridor of Sandy City has been the key component of a long-term vision to create a strong, vibrant commercial tax base. Implementation and improvements to this vision are still taking place decades later. In 2009, Mayor Dolan invited a group of business owners, civic leaders, property owners and economic development professionals to discuss the future of the civic corridor in the city. The focus group produced a report that, in summary, called for improvements to transportation and access, and a diversification of the land uses in the area including more residential. Sandy City has hired a firm to help utilize the findings of the group as well as create a 30 to 50-year strategy on implementation based on the recommendations created by the focus group.

Creating a Destination

Over the past two years, the city has been partnering with DDRM Great Place to generate a long-term plan based on the report generated by the focus group. The plan will help Sandy create a destination platform that will allow the civic corridor to develop to its full potential. From a marketing standpoint, the city has a unique advantage to re-design, develop and market the corridor as an international destination due to the close proximity to four major ski resorts.

30 Year Vision

DDRM, along with additional consultants and city staff, have worked together to complete the initial phase of the project through a conceptual plan, vision book and associated development code that provides for and plans the future of the area. The vision book is being created primarily as a marketing tool for the overall project area. The concepts that are being created are considered "outside the box" of traditional city planning. However, each of the concepts has been tested in other markets and has proven to be successful. The implementation of the plan includes strategic phasing, dedicated project funding, costs and the development of codes to guide form and style. The plan also addresses branding and marketing of the area and identifies a specific targeted tenant mix of businesses. Many of the projects being discussed in the conceptual plan will include a variety of quality mixed land uses such as high-rise residential, office, commercial, hotels and entertainment.

New Development and Amenities

The city is evaluating a "form based code" for the area, where proposed developments will be regulated by building type and style, which is different from traditional zoning. New public spaces such as plazas and courtyards along with the addition of parks, open space and trails will also be included to enhance the quality of life aspect along the corridor. Amenities in the residential components could include the display of public art or an art walk in open spaces. Enhancements to existing infrastructure and developments will also be part of the overall plan. Along with new residential and commercial land uses, a higher-end mix of retail opportunities would be added that would appeal to local residents, businesses and visitors. The atmosphere along the corridor would be inviting for outdoor festivals and live entertainment, creating a nightlife component similar to developments found in other destination markets.

Transportation and Accessibility

As key components of the plan are being researched, the most important key is transportation. The plan calls for significant changes and additions to the current transportation system. These enhancements include a transit system, re-alignment and extension of Monroe Street, improvements to the I-15 corridor and construction of new roads to provide greater access to the area. Transportation into and out of the Civic Center corridor will be designed to reduce congestion, increase transit ridership and provide seamless access for all modes of transportation.

Public Participation

The city and DDRM are presenting these concepts and findings to property owners, civic groups, investors and residents for their feedback. The public is invited to attend open houses that will take place in March and April (see agenda below). Additionally, the master plan and development code changes are beginning the public review process with the city planning commission. We invite all to participate and share their perspectives on the plan.

HEART OF THE WASATCH

Firehouse Subs Donates Equipment to Sandy Fire Department

The Sandy City Fire Department was the recipient of new life-saving equipment this holiday season. The generous gift was made possible because of a donation from the Firehouse Subs Public Safety Foundation. During a special ceremony that took place on Dec. 14, the Sandy Firehouse Subs presented new extrication tools to the Sandy Fire Department to replace older equipment currently being used. The value of the tools is approximately $20,000 and they are a critical piece of equipment used by firefighters after a motor vehicle accident to speed up precious moments to help free those that have been injured.

Sandy Fire Chief, Don Rosenkrantz thanks Firehouse Subs for their donation, "I hope I can speak on behalf of the whole community for this generous donation from Firehouse Subs. We are fortunate to have partners in the community who are as dedicated as we are in protecting the citizens of Sandy the best way we can. It's my hope we have to use this equipment as little as possible."

Jeff Johnson, franchisee of the Sandy Firehouse Subs location said, "Our local heroes need to be prepared at a moment's notice to protect and save lives. Firehouse Subs Public Safety Foundation, with the support of our restaurants, is dedicated to equip, educate, and fund first responders." Each Firehouse Subs location recycles leftover five-gallon pickle buckets and sells them to customers for $2.

The proceeds from the sales have helped to create the Firehouse Subs Public Safety Foundation, a nationwide organization that purchased the equipment for the Sandy Fire Department. Their mission is to help first responders by donating life-saving equipment and educational opportunities.

Sandy City would like to thank Firehouse Subs for their generous donation to the citizens of Sandy.

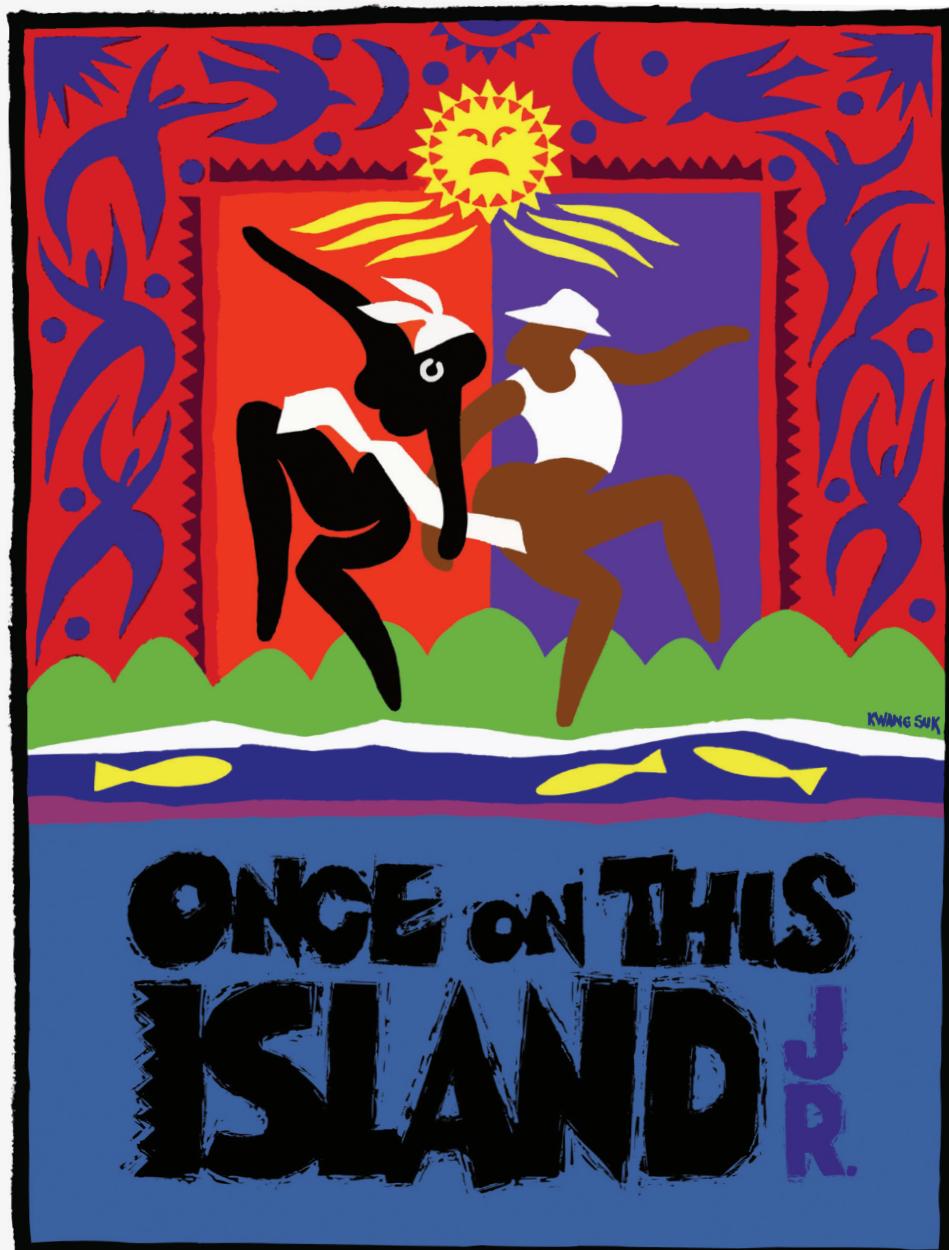

Sandy Fire Department demonstrates the new extrication tools donated by Firehouse Subs. These tools are more commonly known as the "jaws of life" and were used to remove the door from the vehicle. In the event of a vehicle accident, the Jaws of Life can help extricate a victim in less than five minutes, depending on the damage.

Reminders about Yielding to an Emergency Vehicle

Emergency responders want to get to the scene of an accident as quickly as possible. Being prepared as a driver to know what to do in the event you meet an emergency vehicle will help keep the roads and intersections as clear as possible so responders arrive as quickly as they can.

- Yield the right of way to a vehicle with lights flashing
- Drive to the far right edge of the roadway
- Clear the intersection
- Stop

When you see an emergency vehicle approaching, pull to the right side of the roadway if possible. If you can't pull to the right, then drivers are asked to leave room for the emergency vehicle to get by. If you are already stopped, drivers need to stay stationary. Once the emergency vehicle has passed, be sure to re-enter the travel lane with caution. Always keep the intersection clear because emergency vehicles may be turning in any direction. Finally, if you come to an intersection blocked by emergency vehicles, slow down! Watch for directions given by police personnel on the scene and proceed as directed. Often, drivers who don't adhere to these basic laws are unaware of the effect their actions have on the peace and safety of those around them. Educate yourself and follow the proper procedures when you see an emergency vehicle.

Sandy's Sister City Receives Humanitarian Aid Through Volunteers and Local Organizations

In 2002, Sandy City signed a Sister Cities agreement with Piedras Negras, Mexico. This agreement formalized a relationship which had been in place between Sandy residents and those in Piedras Negras since the early 90's. Since the formal Sister Cities relationship began, Sandy citizens have volunteered their time and resources in a variety of ways to help the people of Piedras Negras and forge a stronger humanitarian relationship between the cities.

Piedras Negras is located in northeastern Mexico across from the Texas town of Eagle Pass. The population of Piedras Negras is approximately 150,000 and was named after the "black stones" or coal deposits that exist in the area.

Since 2002, Piedras Negras has experienced several tragedies. In 2004, a deadly flash flood devastated the city when heavy rains filled the Escondido River and washed away 300 homes, taking the lives of 36 people. In 2007, a deadly tornado hit the area, destroying property and killing three people. Most recently in 2010, Hurricane Alex hit the city. As the mayor of Piedras Negras and other officials were inspecting the hurricane damage from the air, the plane they were in crashed, killing all seven passengers on board.

After each tragedy, humanitarian aid was collected and sent by local organizations and volunteers to help the victims and assist the poor in Piedras Negras. Continuing this tradition of Sandy residents helping those in Piedras Negras, the Sandy Ridge Community Church will be hosting fundraisers for the community of Piedras Negras this coming March. If you are interested in getting involved, contact Pastor Travis Mitchell at Sandy Ridge Community Church by calling at 801-572-0044 or by email at contact@sandyridgechurch.org.

Sandy City Ranked 62nd Safest City for 2011

In December 2011, CQ Press released its annual list of safest cities in the United States. Sandy was ranked 62nd nationwide out of 400 cities that have a population of more than 75,000 residents. The statistics used for this ranking were derived from FBI crime statistics using a point system from categories of crimes such as murder, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary and motor vehicle theft. Sandy City, according to the list, was the second safest city in Utah and the safest in the Salt Lake Valley.

The Sandy Police Department is grateful for the help of the citizens for their hard work in making the city a great place to live and work. Citizen involvement in programs such as:

Volunteers in Policing, Neighborhood Watch and Business Watch have been instrumental in Sandy's success. It is truly a team effort.

Residential burglaries continue to be a high crime statistic in the city. Through the past year, there has been a trend of thefts from unattended open garages and vehicles. Criminals look for easy opportunities to steal items and target open garages or unlocked cars with valuables that are visible. The Sandy Police Department would like to urge residents to take extra precaution in securing their home and property as well as their neighborhoods. If you see suspicious activities, please contact the Sandy Police Department at 801-840-4000.

Questions about Fluoride Use for Infants

For many years, studies have shown that the use of fluoridation in drinking water decreases the possibility of tooth decay. In 2000, Sandy residents passed the countywide resolution which required all water services to add fluoride to their systems. Sandy City Public Utilities is in charge of the water for Sandy residents and would like to share some recent information from the Center for Disease Control (CDC) regarding the use of tap water for infant formula.

The CDC recommends using low-fluoride bottled water some of the time, if using powder formula. High levels of fluoride in formula for infants may result in mild dental fluorosis. Fluorosis refers to the changes in the appearance of tooth enamel from exposure to high levels of fluoride while the teeth are forming, usually during the first eight years of life. For more information regarding fluoridated water and infant formula, please visit the CDC's website at www.cdc.gov/fluoridation/safety/infant_formula.htm.
